OPERATING ENGINEERS LOCAL UNION NO. 3 DOCUMENTS 70 YEARS OF HISTORY

Breaking Ground: The History of Operating Engineers Local No. 3 chronicles the seventy-year history of one of America's largest construction unions through historical text and breathtaking photographs. Drawing on never-before published archival materials dating back to before the Great Depression, it documents how a union evolved from a fledgling 1,000-member entity into one of today's most influential unions.

Operating Engineers Local No. 3 represents 40,000 workers in Northern California, Northern Nevada, Utah, Hawaii and the Mid-Pacific Islands. Breaking Ground tells the story of this union's odyssey through over seven decades of economic and political challenges.
